GOOGLE ANALYTICS

This website uses Google Analytics, a web analysing service operated by Google Inc. (“Google”). Google Analytics uses so-called “cookies”, text files stored on your computer that allow analysing your use of the website. Such information on your use of this website as generated by the cookie is transferred to and stored on a Google server in the US. In case of activated IP anonymisation on this website, however, your IP address is previously truncated by Google within member states of the European Union or in other states which are party to the agreement on the European Economic Area. Only in exceptional cases is a full IP address transmitted to a Google server in the United States and truncated there. On behalf of this website’s owner, Google will use this information to evaluate your use of the website, compile reports about website activities, and provide the website’s operator with further services related to website and Internet usage. The IP address sent from your browser as part of Google Analytics is not merged with other data by Google. You can prevent storage of cookies by appropriately setting your browser software; in this case, however, please note that you might not be able to fully use all functions offered by this website. In addition, you can prevent data generated by the cookie and relating to your use of the website (including your IP address) from being collected and processed by Google, by downloading and installing a browser plug-in from the following link: [<http://tools.google.com/dlpage/gaoptout?hl=en>].

USE OF SOCIAL PLUG-INS FROM FACEBOOK

This website uses social plug-ins (“plugins”) from the social network Facebook, operated by Facebook Inc., 1601 S. California Ave, Palo Alto, CA 94304, USA (“Facebook”). The plug-ins can be recognised by way of the Facebook logo or the supplement “Social Plug-in from Facebook” or “Facebook Social Plug-in”. For more information about the plugins from Facebook and their appearance, please click here: <https://developers.facebook.com/docs/plugins>

When you visit a page from our website that contains such a plugin, your browser establishes a direct connection to the Facebook servers. The content of the plugin is directly transmitted from Facebook to your browser and from that incorporated in the website. By integrating plugins, Facebook receives the information that your browser has accessed the corresponding page of our website, even if you do not have a Facebook account or are currently not logged in to Facebook. This information (including your IP address) is transmitted directly from your browser to Facebook and stored there. If you are logged in to Facebook, Facebook can assign your visit to our site directly to your Facebook account. If you interact with the plugins, for example, press the “Like” button or leave a comment, the corresponding information is also transmitted directly to a Facebook server and stored there. The information will also be posted on Facebook and will be visible to your Facebook friends. Facebook can use this information for purposes of advertising, market research and custom design of the Facebook pages. For this purpose, Facebook creates usage, interest and relationship profiles, e.g. to evaluate your use of our website in terms of appearance of Facebook Ads displayed to you, inform other Facebook users about your activities on our website and to provide other associated service connected with the use of Facebook. If you do not want Facebook to map data collected about you via our website to your Facebook account, you must log out of Facebook before visiting our website. For further information about the purpose and scope of data collection and the further processing and use of data by Facebook, and your rights and ways to protect your privacy, please see the privacy notices of Facebook: <http://www.facebook.com/policy.php>.
